GOVERNOR OPPOSES RAID ON TREASURY; GRAB IS HALTED

Executive Services Notice 30
Salary-Grab Measures Have Small Chance

FOR DESERVING BOOSTS

Biennial Crop of Salary Raises
In Both Houses Said
To Be Heavy

By William B. Brown
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 10.—"I do not believe in salary grab bills as a general thing."

That declaration of Governor John S. Fisher today is looked upon as the well greased chute upon which slide another fine lot of House and Senate salary increasing measures. The Governor made the declaration last night in outlining his policy on such bills.

The biennial crop of salary raises in both houses this session is said to be unusually heavy. There are measures to increase the pay of all kinds of state, county and city servants. They start with the tipstaves and court criers and go on up to the judiciary. If the latter measures are passed it is estimated that they alone would add $900,000 a year to the cost of the courts.

After introducing measures to care for the various grades of civil employees a bill was introduced in the House which would increase the pay of members of both houses from $2500 to $3000 a session. Present members of the Legislature who back the bill would not benefit unless they were re-elected. The constitution prohibits that.

The Governor refused to indicate what his attitude would be toward any particular class of salary increase measures. He said that there may be cases where the present remuneration is insufficient but he made it quite plain that he did not believe there was anything general about the situation.

Although the Governor from the beginning of the campaign had promised economical, business-like administration, his statement last night was the first he has made outlining his attitude toward general salary increases.

Several weeks ago it was forecast that one of the first problems which the new executive board would tackle was a general job and salary classification. Instead the only class considered at the meeting was that of law stenographers. It was agreed to increase their pay because of the difficulty the state has experienced in keeping them.

Today it was generally agreed about the capitol that few of the salary measures will ever get out of committee because of the Governor's stand. A two third vote is necessary to pass over his veto and they are usually scarce during the first session of a new Governor.

Dr. Jackson Awarded Philadelphia Prize

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 10 (I.N.S.)—Dr. Chevalier Jackson, 61-year old bronchoscopic surgeon, internationally known for his invention of the bronchoscope is the winner of the Philadelphia Award for 1926. The prize, consisting of the Edward S. Bok medal and a check for $10,000, is given annually to the man or woman who during the preceding year has done the most to further the interests of Philadelphia. The coveted prize was presented to the famous surgeon by Senator George Wharton Pepper at the Academy of Music here last night.

Dr. Jackson's invention, a small metal tube with an electric light at its end, used to remove objects from the windpipe and bronchial passages, is credited with saving the lives of hundreds of persons. Before Dr. Jackson's invention was perfected 90 per cent. of all children who inhaled safety pins, coins, nails, and other objects into their bronchial tubes died. By his invention Dr. Jackson reduced the number of deaths to two per cent. He told the audience last night it took him 22 years to perfect his device and that he hopes eventually to make his invention 100 per cent. perfect.

Dr. Jackson, a widower, was born in Schwenksville, a suburb. He is a graduate of Jefferson Medical College here and has one son, Dr. Chevalier Lawrence Jackson, 26, who graduated from the University of Pennsylvania last year.

Vice-President Charles G. Dawes attended the presentation ceremonies and made a short talk.

Recalling the occasion when he missed being present at the Senate session when there was a tie vote, Dawes said:

"Since then, I've been the most assiduous and suffering of vice-presidents but there's never been a tie vote since."

A large photograph of the architect's conception of the proposed new municipal building is being exhibited in the window of the office of the Borough Engineer, 204 Radcliffe street.

The picture is attracting much attention and those who view it are much impressed with the beauty of design of the proposed structure, which is to be located at Pond and Mulberry streets.

A floor plan is also shown which gives a general idea as to the character of the structure, which will house the borough executive offices, council chamber and police and fire departments.

K. OF C. AND CELTIC FIVES PLAY AT BORDENTOWN

Two Local Teams Defeat
"Caseys" and Odd Fellows
Quintets

INTERESTING GAMES

The Bristol K. of C., accompanied by the Celtic, traveled to Bordentown last evening, and defeated the highly touted "Caseys" and Odd Fellows quintets of that place in two of the most exciting games ever played on the Bordentown High School court. Both victories were of a one-point margin character.

"Eager Eddie" McIlvaine was the hero of the main game of the evening, by his spectacular play in the last twenty seconds of the game, with Bordentown leading by one point. Both teams were fighting for possession of the ball under Bristol's basket. "Eddie" leaped high in the air, caught the ball on a rebound from the back-board and dropped it through the net for his third field goal of the night, and also winning the game for Bristol.

After a great first half, in which the lead changed several times, Bristol took the advantage in the last few minutes and by a spurt ran the score up to 17-10 in their favor.

As the second half opened, Bordentown started a rally which looked like the downfall of Bristol, and for ten minutes the Jerseymen kept rolling up the score while the Bristolians were trying to get acquainted with the American League rules which they were playing and had them bewildered. Bordentown at the end of the third period held a 15-point lead over Bristol.

The Pennsylvanians staged a fine rally in the last ten minutes, and seemed like a new team. The attack led by "Jim" Sweeney and "Lefty" Rodgers swept the Jersey "Caseys" off their feet, and when the smoke had cleared, the score was deadlocked at 30 all. With less than a minute to go, Keating scored a foul goal, sending Bordentown into the lead. On the jump up at center, "Lefty" Rodgers received the ball and shot for the basket, missing by inches, but "Eddie" McIlvaine was there for the rebound and sent the ball through the net, thus ending the most hectic game ever played on this floor.

In the second game the Celtic team defeated the Odd Fellows 35 to 34, and was another exciting battle. The Celts enjoyed a 25-15 lead at the end of the first half, but the second half under American League rules, was a different game altogether. The Celts were also bewildered playing these rules, and did not find themselves until the last few minutes, when long shots by "Hon" Rodgers, "Eddie" Roe and "Daddy" Connors put the game on ice.

DR. JOHN J. HARGRAVE GIVES HISTORY OF CHRISTIAN FLAG IN ADDRESS TO ROTARIANS HERE

Speaker Sketches the Origin of the Emblem and Reviews Its History — Two Forms of Pre-Christian Crosses Are Most Frequently Used in the Flag

"THE Christian Flag," was the subject of a talk given before the Bristol Rotary Club this afternoon at the weekly luncheon. The speaker was Dr. John J. Hargrave. Dr. Hargrave last Sunday evening on behalf of the members of his Sunday School Class of the Presbyterian Church presented a Church Flag to the Church with which his class is affiliated.

The speaker had a Christian Flag which he used as an illustration. Dr. Hargrave addressing the Rotarians spoke in part as follows:

"On September 26th, 1897, at the Rally Day exercises of the Sunday School at Brighton Chapel, Coney Island, New York, the speaker failed to reach the meeting on time, and the superintendent, Mr. Charles C. Overton, gave a talk.

"Not having made any preparation, he took as his text, 'The American Flag,' which was draped over the corner of the pulpit. While he was speaking he conceived the idea of having a flag for Sunday Schools and Churches, which would not be restricted by any geographical boundary and would remind all men of their allegiance to God, just as their national flag expressed loyalty to their country.

"He pictured the flag as a banner of the Prince of Peace, standing for no creed or denomination, containing no symbol of warfare.

"A ground of pure white, representing peace and purity. In the upper corner a blue field, the color of the unclouded sky, the symbol of fidelity and truth.

"Its chief device, the cross of red, which is the emblem of Christian sacrifice or the shed blood of our Lord Jesus Christ on a cross. The Cross, from its simplicity of form has been used both as a religious symbol and as an ornament from the dawn of man's civilization.

"Various objects dating from periods long anterior to the Christian era, have been found, marked with crosses of different designs in almost every part of the old world.

"In nearly every important museum, objects marked with pre-Christian crosses are to be found.

"Two forms of the pre-Christian cross which are perhaps most frequently met with are the tan cross, so named from its resemblance to the Greek capital letter 'T,' and the swastika cross, owing to its form being that of four Greek capital letters, Gamma placed together.

"The tan cross is a common Egyptian device, and is often called the Egyptian Cross.

"The Swastika Cross has a very wide range of distribution, and is found on all kinds of objects; it was used as a religious emblem in India and China, at least ten centuries before the Christian era, and is met with on Buddhist coins and inscriptions from various parts of India.

"The death of Christ on a cross conferred a new significance on it. Not until the time of Constantine did the cross become publicly used as the symbol of Christian religion (or at 315, about). While Constantine, with a large army was marching on to Rome, he is supposed to have seen a large cross in the sky, toward evening, while it was yet light, and also the words 'By This, Conquer,' and on the following night Christ is supposed to have appeared to him, and directed that a standard be prepared in the form of the sign and cross, and that a cross be put on the shield of each soldier.

"On March 1st, 321, Nazarius, in an oration to the emperor, speaks of an army of divine warriors, and divine assistance which Constantine received in the engagement and overthrow of the former emperor.

"In the year 325, St. Helena, Constantine's mother, while visiting the holy places in Palestine (so the legend goes), was guided to the sight of the Crucifixion, by an aged Jew who had inherited traditional knowledge as to its position. After the ground had been dug to a considerable depth, three crosses were uncovered. The legend was accepted as true and is related by several early writers.

"Parts of these crosses are supposed to be in possession of the Church of Jerusalem in Italy, near Rome, at the present time.

"Many churches, especially in northern Europe, are built to the form of a cross, and many Christian countries have some form of cross in their national flag.

"Just recently, a Philadelphia couple found in Swan-etia, known as the lost Republic of Car-cus-us, high up among the mountains in Russia (Mr. and Mrs. Wasserman), some wonderful old pieces of hammered silver, one of the Madonna and Child, and two large hammered silver crosses highly cherished by the Swan-etians and for which museums in Europe and America would pay fabulous prices.

"The cross on which Christ was crucified is known as the capitata or Latin cross most commonly used today. If each limb is of the same length it is called the Greek cross.

"The cross formed like our little 'x' is known as St. Andrew's, from the tradition that St. Andrew was put to death on a cross of this form; the Flag of Scotland was a field of blue with this white 'x' on it. The English cross of St. George is a plain red cross on a white ground; the Irish cross of St. Patrick is a plain diagonal red cross on a white ground. These three crosses are combined to make the Union Jack.

"There are many forms of crosses (Continued on Page Six)

HUFF-DALANDERS ROLL BEST GAME OF SEASON
Airplane Builders Succeed In Defeating Second Place Team
KEEN COMPETITION IS ON
Tuesday night the Huff-Daland team rolled their best bowling match of the season and succeeded in defeating one of the second place teams and throwing them out of any possibility of winning the first half.
This leaves the battle for first half honors between the Pacific Steel Roller and No. 2 Fire Co., the latter being one game ahead of Pacific and both have two matches or six games left to play and from the standpoint of team strength they should both make clean sweeps of both their matches.
The second half will start with a clean slate, as was decided at the regular meeting Monday evening. This affords the teams which have been handicapped the first half to show their improvement and give them an equal chance to cop the beautiful team prize to be awarded, which will be presented to the winner of the match to be played between the winners of the first and second halves, providing they are two different teams.

LATE NEWS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 10.—President Coolidge today called for a showdown with the world powers on the question of further naval disarmament. He has proposed in the name of the United States that the forthcoming meeting of the preparatory committee at Geneva for another disarmament conference be transformed into something else besides an interesting debating society, and be made an actual disarmament conference in fact.

The President advised Congress today in a special message of his action in directing American Ambassadors to Great Britain, Japan, France, and Italy, to present to those governments a formal suggestion. They authorized their delegates to the conference actually to conclude agreements for the further limitations of naval armaments.

DEDICATE ADDITION TO CLUB HOUSE HERE

St. Ann's Holy Name Society
Holds House Warming
Affair

MANY MAKE SPEECHES

St. Ann's Holy Name Society, last night, dedicated a new addition recently erected to their club house, 319 Dorrance street. With the new addition the club quarters of this organization becomes one of the best equipped of its character in Bristol.

St. Ann's Holy Name Society was organized in Bristol and purchased the Dorrance street property July 2, 1921. It was but a short time before the quarters proved to be too small and last September work on the new addition was started, the club members doing the work themselves.

The addition is built of concrete block and stucco. It is plastered throughout and measures 34 by 22 feet, two stories in height.

There is a gymnasium on the first floor equipped with a body developer, dumb bells, stationary bicycle, punching bag, two showers, boxing ring. On the second floor there is a pool room and assembly hall. The building has hot water heat and electric lights. A canteen is another feature.

Officers of the club are John Fields, president; Anthony Pone, vice-president; Joseph Paglione, treasurer; Anthony Misera, financial secretary; John Rich, secretary.

At the dedication exercises held last night the program was opened by President John Fields, who introduced the Rev. Cognigni, who dedicated the building. James Palermo, chairman, spoke a few words and was followed by President Fields, who gave a resume of the history of the club.

Other speakers included Arthur P. Brady, Anthony Russo, James McGee, Rev. Isidore Jenne, John J. McGuckin, Michael Christopher and Thomas Scott.

Following the speeches there were three bouts of three rounds each by the Moffo Brothers, Bristol's well known boxers. Delia's orchestra furnished music for the occasion and refreshments were served.

Missionary Group in Session In M. E. Church

The Group Conference of the Woman's Home Missionary Society got underway this morning at 10:30 in the Methodist Church here, with delegates assembled from churches in Cornwallis, Yardley, Langhorne, Hometown, Morrisville, Newtown, Somerton and Bristol.

The devotions at this first session were in charge of the Rev. Walter H. Canon, pastor of the Methodist Church, at Hometown. Mrs. William P. Betz, president of the hostess society, welcomed the guests in a few well chosen words. Mrs. Betz's welcome was responded to by Mrs. Joseph Heritage, president of the Langhorne missionary society.

Following roll call, and reports, noontide prayer was in charge of Mrs. K. S. Burnett. "Literature and Missionary Education" was the subject of Mrs. C. W. Masland's discourse, the same being followed by a two-minute report from all district department secretaries present.

After adjournment a box luncheon was enjoyed, at which time the Bristol society served coffee. The afternoon session will commence at 2 p. m.

METROPOLITAN MANAGER BACK FROM CONVENTION

Louis S. Paulmier Pleased With Talks Given By The Speakers

PRESIDENT FISKE THERE

Louis S. Paulmier, manager of the branch office of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, here, returned from the annual three-day convention of the company which he represents, much pleased over the talks given by the speakers of national renown, and the splendid results of the sessions in general.

The convention took place at the Metropolitan Auditorium, 1 Madison avenue, New York City, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 27th, 28th, and 29th. Two thousand delegates represented 1,400 districts which are spread over the entire United States.

One of the high lights of the three-day affair, was an address by the president of the Metropolitan Company, Haley Fiske, who incorporated in his discourse a resume of the past year's work.

Among other things mentioned in his outline were the facts that this insurance company wrote 13 1/2% of all ordinary insurance written by the 300 companies in these United States, as well as 31% of the group insurance; that the Metropolitan Company has on its list 1-6 of the lives insured in the United States and Canada.

It was likewise brought out that while in 1911 the company spent $16,990 on welfare work, this amount was increased to $27,000,000 in 1927. Through use of this fund, welfare literature and pamphlets on "Health," "Habits to Prevent Scarlet and Typhoid Fever," "Nursing Service" and the like, are distributed to intermediate and industrial policy-holders upon application. This sum also makes possible the showing of movies dealing with health questions, which are available to all societies. The Metropolitan company likewise conducts a department in connection with immigration work.

On Saturday evening, the 29th, a banquet was served at the Astor House, when an address was made by Otto H. Kahn, a New York banker. Other speakers were: Dr. Kanan Kody, D.D., L.L.D., of Toronto, Canada; Silden Deldan, D.D., of New York; Grady H. Hipp, of Albany; and Joseph P. Day, real estate magnate, of New York City.

In telling of the activities of the company, Mr. Paulmier remarked, "The Metropolitan company wrote $27,347,990 worth of group insurance in 1926, insuring 967,543 lives. The most persistent policies in force on industrial plans are the 15 and 20 year endowment."

The territorial meetings took place on Saturday morning, when the numerous representatives of the districts had an opportunity to become acquainted with other workers of their territory. "It was the most enthusiastic convention that was ever held by this company," was one of Mr. Paulmier's remarks.

OTHER STATE NOTES

HARRISBURG, Feb. 10 (I.N.S.)—How many laws has Pennsylvania? That is a question that is unanswerable, even by John H. Fertig, legislative reference bureau expert.

Before the present session of state legislature closes April 14 approximately 2,000 more laws will be thrown into the hopper. Of that number probably 600 will be appropriations measures of local interest to various communities. Many others will be for the establishment of stretches of roadway which will benefit some certain communities of the state. THE APPEAL OF MUSIC

In many respects the United States is the most musical of all nations and this generation of Americans is the most musical that ever lived. The country is alive with things musical and never as in recent years has music reached out in one form or another to capture so many millions of devotees.

Certain European countries have popularized grand opera more than it has been in this country. Community singing in this country has not attained the stupendous proportions of the world famous song fests of the Welsh hills, and singing workmen here may not be quite as picturesque as the Volga boatmen of Russia, the Venetian gondoliers and the Alpine yodeler, and yet, in spite of these shortcomings, this country remains the most musical of all nations.

Musical plays predominate on the American stage, millions listen to radio music every day, pianos, phonographs and other musical instruments are in almost universal distribution among homes of all classes, music stores are found in the smallest communities and are among the largest and most numerous commercial enterprises in the larger cities. While Miss America does not have "bells on her toes," she has music wherever she goes.

The appeal of music is universal. Though there was a time when music was thought too effeminate for the he-man and "real boy," the tired and busy business man is now turning to it for inspiration and recreation and it is part of the self-education of every active boy.

Dr. Charles W. Eliot believed music the best of all mind trainers. Woodrow Wilson was inspired to say "the man who disparages music as a luxury and non-essential is doing the nation an injury" by the same criticism which provoked from George Eastman the remark, "Enlightened business men cannot ignore music."

PRACTICE LAGS

In matters of health human beings will not act except under forceful impulsion is the conclusion to be drawn from a remark by Dr. C. H. Mayo, the noted surgeon. The average person will not take steps to guard against disease unless he is frightened into it.

As a result the average life is 48 years when it might be considerably higher. Dr. Mayo compares the ordinary reaction to medical advice to the reaction to spiritual teachings of the hell and brimstone character. Men were frightened into an effort at being good rather than doing right because it is right. Referring to the smallpox scourge which is afflicting some cities at present he says that the ravages are due to neglect for some years to take precautionary measures against the recurrence of such visitations. The penalty of disregard is being paid.

Good health is assured only at the price of eternal vigilance. If we neglect precautionary measures there may be escape for a time but we are never safe. Scientific knowledge thus has progressed beyond the willingness of mankind on the average to practice its precepts. Progress has been made, of course, but not in the degree possible. It is a matter of education and the educative processes have lagged in impressing the lessons which medical science is ready to impart, if given an opportunity. Because a consideration is asked may deter some, but the cost of delay may be greater than the medical fee.

PARIS, Feb. 10.—This is Paris' dullest season, if any time in the year can be called calm in Paris. Of course a large number of Parisians are away at winter resorts in Switzerland or somewhere on the Riviera. The men have little to keep them busy, for politics are always dull at this season and business is slow. In fact, it seems slower than ever this year for tourists are here in fewer numbers and that means the restaurants and shops are not crowded at all and the cabaret-keepers are making so little money they are closing up all around Montmartre. A great many Frenchmen were fussing when the dollar was at thirty-five, but now more of them are doing it because it is ten points lower.

But there are some people who can't make any complaint and they are the Casino-keepers. Their business is getting better and better every day according to the 1926 report which shows 128 more millions made in gambling-halls than during the year 1925. The total amount is placed at 330 millions, 152 millions more than in 1923, thus showing an increase of 150% within the space of three years.

Reports from the ten most important Casinos in France give the following figures:

Frances
Deauville 44,653,000
Biarritz 42,993,000
Touquet, Paris 37,700,000
Nice Municipal 33,918,000
Cannes Municipal 33,857,000
Grand Casino de Vichy 28,285,000
Aix-les-Bains 24,093,000
Jettee Promenade de Nice 17,714,000
Dieppe 7,550,000
Juan les Pins 7,918,000

There will be no beautiful de Boulogne within a few years, if everyone of the 500,000 visitors who go there every Sunday continue to pluck twigs and branches from the trees. This is what Monsieur Forestier who has been the curator for over forty years, warns Parisians. He also says that the French capital really needs four fine woods like this one, on the outskirts of the city, if it is to preserve the one it has. The gas from the many automobiles is thought to have greatly injured the fine trees, and a great error has been made in allowing the Bois which is a great park, to become the exit for all west-bound traffic.

The famous old Pont de la Concorde which leads to the Chamber of Deputies is going to be made much wider, to provide for the ever-increasing number of people and automobiles which pass over it every day. The present temporary footbridge, which was put up during last summer's exposition, will be moved further downstream, and finally done away with altogether when the work, which is calculated to occupy three years, is completed. The foundations will be strengthened and it has been suggested that the twelve colossal statues of famous Frenchmen originally placed along the bridge be restored. They were removed in the time of Louis Philippe because it was thought that the piles could not stand their weight. They are now in the main courtyard of the palace at Versailles.

Fetes on a very large scale, celebrating the ninth century of the birth of William the Conqueror, are being planned for Caen and Falaise on the Normandy coast, next June. It is proposed to build replicas of the vessels in which William and his men sailed for England. They will go from Dives-sur-Mer to Havre and then up the Seine to Rouen where ceremonies will be held.

One of the oldest guides of the Chamoni Valley, "French Switzerland," has just died at the age of 89 years. Frederic Payot was beloved by all the tourists and inhabitants of this little land of Eternal Snow and of late years had grown to be a real celebrity. He now lies in the little cemetery in the shadow of the great Mont Blanc which he had ascended at least thirty times.

Word comes from the Riviera that an explosion in a gallery driven into the rock at Antibes has opened a cavity containing the statue of a Virgin. It is mounted on a pedestal hewn in the solid rock and is partly covered by calcareous deposits owing to the dripping of water from the roof of the cavern which is believed to have been the place of worship of some of the early Christians.

The Value of Human Life at all ages"Broke"— but Worth $79,100

Dad earns $50 a week. He has just paid the rent, the grocery bill and the milk bill. He says he is "broke, but happy".... In reality, he and his family are worth a small fortune.... This American family represents $79,100 of the nation's wealth.

ALMOST any man will agree that his life is more valuable to himself than the things he owns. Now he can have the comfort of knowing how valuable his life is to others—from a dollars-and-cents standpoint.

Today it is known that the lives of our men, women and children are the nation's greatest asset. The economic value of these lives completely overshadows the value of all of our material wealth.

Recent computations made by statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company show the real economic value of the lives of our people from babyhood to old age. These figures are based on the average family—with an average income—and take into consideration the average length of life of each member of the family, together with the cost of bringing children into the world, feeding them, clothing them, educating them and bringing them up to a self-supporting basis.

Long lives and short lives—small incomes and big incomes—are reckoned in these calculations. At 40, a man earning $100 a week is rated as having an economic value of $45,670. At 30, the $50-a-week man represents a value of $31,000. He had a value of $9,333 the day he was born.*

—And then come the figures showing the total economic value of all the men, women and children of the United States—the astounding total of 1,500 billion dollars ($1,500,000,000,000).

* If you wish to find out how much each member of your family is worth, economically, send for a booklet recently prepared by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. It tells how a person of any age may measure the economic value of his or her life. It will be mailed free.

Perhaps the easiest way to realize this stupendous figure is to compare it with the total value of the entire material wealth of our country.

The latest available government reports show that everything we own—land, buildings, railroads, mines, raw materials, manufactured products, crops, live stock—everything included—was 321 billions.... Our lives are worth nearly five times as much as our property.

America can well be proud of the additional insurance placed on the valuable lives of her people in 1926. More than 16 billion dollars ($16,000,000,000) was written and revived during the year by about 300 life insurance companies—making the total amount of life insurance in force approximately 80 billion dollars ($80,000,000,000). About one sixth of the grand total is carried by the Metropolitan.

But while the people of this country carry 80 billion dollars of life insurance—or only one-twentieth of the economic value of their lives—they carry more than 160 billions of insurance on property—more than one-half of its value.

You would not insure a $5,000 house for $250—one twentieth of its value. You insure it adequately. But have you insured yourself adequately? Send for the booklet which tells you what you are worth. Study it. Then decide whether or not you carry enough insurance to protect your family.

America is rapidly gaining a better knowledge of the value of its greatest wealth—human lives.

The America of the future will better safeguard its wealth and happiness.

VARSITY AND RESERVES PLAY AT BORDENTOWN

On Monday evening the Varsity and Reserves of the Bristol High School journeyed to Bordentown and played the Varsity and Reserve basketball teams of that locality. The Varsity defeated Bordentown 33-26, and the second team was defeated 23-22, by Bordentown.

It was a very interesting game. Bristol winning through better passing and shooting. Bristol scored first when Whitey Odyke made a very pretty shot from the side near the line. Bristol immediately began to increase their score and at half time the score was 21-12 in Bristol's favor.

In the second half Spadacino was eliminated on fouls and Johns, who took his place, was also eliminated. This was injurious to the team's play, and Bordentown began to score. Bristol, however, held, and increased their score enough to win. Wright, Bristol's forward, was high scorer with a total of fourteen points. Barrett, of Bordentown, held that honor on his team, with a total of eight points.

The Bristol Reserves put up a good fight, but lost by a close margin. The Reserves played well in the first half, and led by the score of 14-10. In this half the Reserves played good basketball, passing and shooting with accuracy.

In the second half the Reserves lost two of their strongest members when Earl and DeRisi were eliminated on personal fouls. Bordentown, when these two left the game, immediately began to increase their score and managed to defeat Bristol by the score of 23-22.

David was high scorer for Bristol with a total of eight points, while Parker held that honor for Bordentown, with nine points.

Too Much "Acid?"

Excess Uric Acid Gives Rise to Many Unpleasant Troubles.

AUTHORITIES agree that an excess of uric acid is primarily due to faulty kidney action. Retention of this toxic material often makes its presence felt by sore, painful joints, a tired, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backache and headache. That the kidneys are not functioning right is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Thousands assist their kidneys at such times by the use of Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. Doan's are recommended by many local people. Ask your neighbor!

MAUCH CHUNK.—An epidemic which has struck hard in this city during the past month, first thought to have been Lagrippe, has developed into what is believed to be intestinal infection from bad drinking water. After 250 persons had been affected by the epidemic, doctors advised the boiling of drinking water. The boiling of the water halted the increase of new cases.

GETTYSBURG.—Harry Butler, of Pittsburgh, a student at Mt. St. Mary's College at Emmitsburg, Md., who had his neck broken while playing football with his college team here last November, has been discharged from the local hospital where he received treatment. Butler was in the hospital ten weeks. Although not yet entirely cured, Butler was taken to his home with chances for his complete recovery.

LEBANON.—Because John Ketter, applicant for citizenship in the local courts, was accused of beating his wife, he was denied naturalization papers by Judge C. V. Henry and United States Examiner A. E. Stevens, of the Philadelphia office. The alleged wife beatings were said to have been administered within the past year, according to testimony given by neighbors of the family. Consequently, Ketter must wait some time before he can renew his petition for naturalization.

HAZLETON.—Mayor James G. Harvey does not believe in compelling the parents of delinquent boys brought before him on petty charges to pay the fines. The mayor has adopted a rule whereby boys found guilty of such charges as playing dice and petty thievery are required to earn their own money to pay fines. The boys are allowed from thirty to sixty days to earn the money and the parents are forbidden from helping the lads to raise the cash.

GETTYSBURG.—The old chemical laboratory at Gettysburg College, erected in 1872, will be torn down next summer to make way for an ornamental gateway into the college grounds at that point. The "Miracle" of the Can!

The magic of the tinned Aladdin and his wonderful lamp pales into insignificance when compared with the present day methods of canning.

As an illustration, the luscious, California-grown Peach, picked when sun-ripened in Nature's Garden Spot—canned at the very moment when perfection is reached—locked up in the can with all the original flavor and goodness of the fresh fruit.

Truly, man's inventive genius has indeed performed a miracle with the humble can and the choicest products of Field, Orchard and Garden.

A TABLOID HISTORY OF THE RADIO

Great Industry Traced From Its Beginning Shows Remarkable Growth.

In theory, radio is old; in practice, it is still very young.

Over eighty years ago Joseph Henry demonstrated at Princeton that under certain conditions electrical effects are oscillatory, or vibratory, and that these oscillatory effects can be transmitted over considerable distances. Others studied these effects. Numerous experiments were conducted.

Decades later, Professor Heinrich Hertz of Germany demonstrated in a striking manner how the discharge of an electrical condenser sets up invisible waves, and how these waves can be detected several feet distant. That was in 1887. Several years later, Professor Righi of Italy undertook the study of Hertzian waves.

In Righi's laboratory there chanced to be a young student named Guglielmo Marconi, who became intensely interested in the work. He saw a possibility of applying these invisible or Hertzian waves to telegraphy without wires. Soon Marconi was conducting extensive experiments on his father's estate. From a few feet he soon advanced his wireless jumps to miles, using an upright wire and ground connection at the transmitting and receiving ends. From a laboratory experiment, Marconi's efforts passed over to the commercial stage, mainly in England. Year by year Marconi spanned greater distances, while numerous steamships were equipped with wireless apparatus to work in conjunction with land stations. And by 1907 Marconi succeeded in spanning the vast Atlantic, transmitting signals from England to Newfoundland and laying the foundation for world-wide wireless.

By this time many scientists and technicians had been attracted to the virgin field of wireless communication. Originally the invention of Guglielmo Marconi, wireless communication now began to represent the combined efforts of many pioneers. Thus an Englishman, Sir Oliver Lodge; Dr. M. I. Pupin, an American, and several others contributed the principle of tuning, without which wireless communication would be impracticable. Another Englishman, Professor Fleming, contributed the basic vacuum tube, which was later developed by the American De Forest and ingeniously applied by the young American student, Armstrong. Vacuum tube improvements owe their conception to many American technicians, led by Dr. Irving Langmuir of the General Electric Research Laboratory. Alexander, another American, developed a remarkable generator known as the Alexanderson alternator, which made possible reliable and economical radio communication over great distances.

Public Radio Began in 1920

A variation of wireless telephony, first tried out two decades ago by the Danish Poulsen, made it possible to transmit the spoken word instead of the dots and dashes of the telegraph code. Up till the World War, however, wireless telephony was crude and impracticable. But the remarkable technical advances made during the trying days of conflict soon placed wireless telephony on a practical basis. Indeed, the Atlantic was experimentally spanned by wireless telephony in 1915, by American telephone engineers, and by the end of the war wireless telephony was available for reliable communication over considerable distances and even on aircraft.

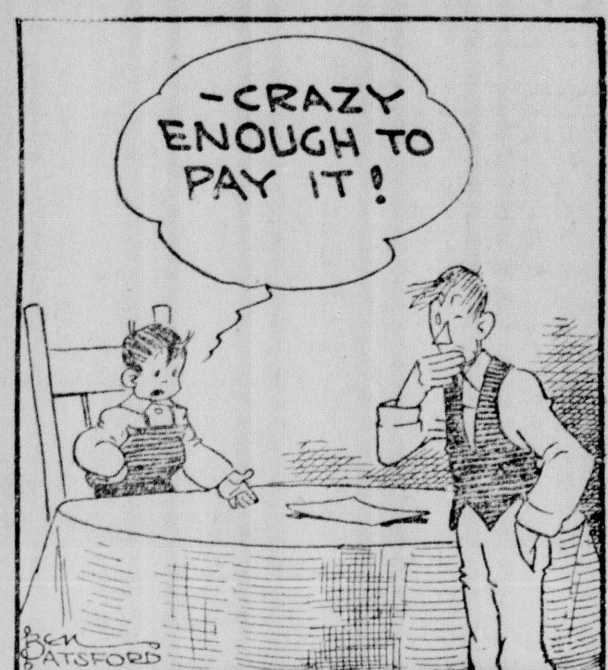

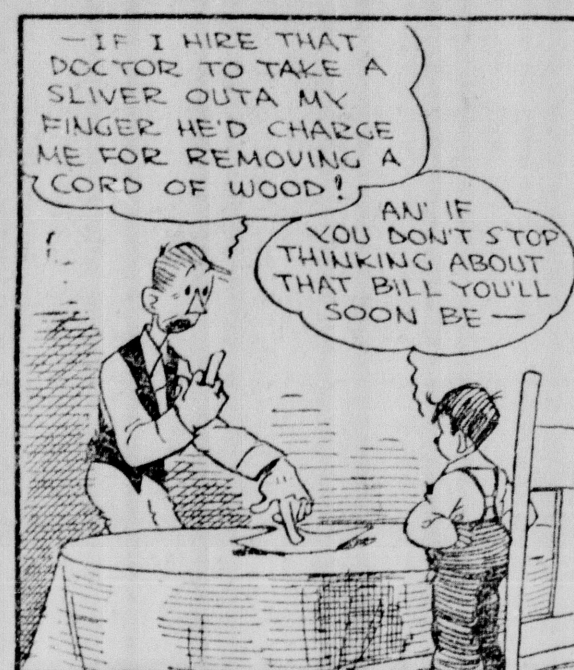

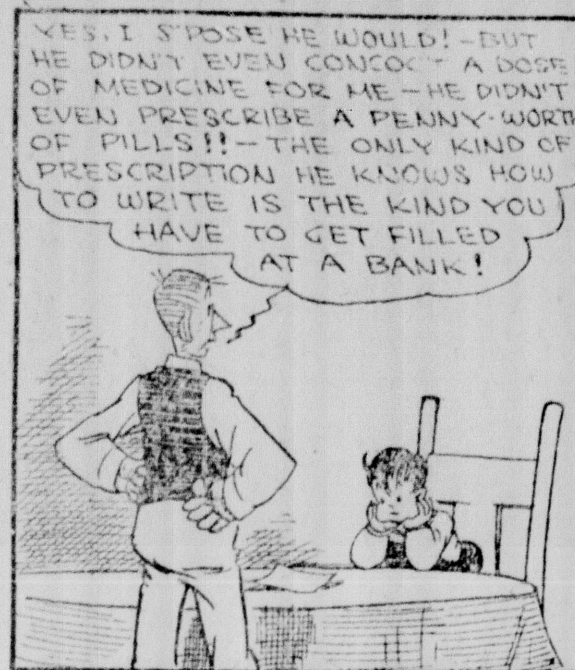

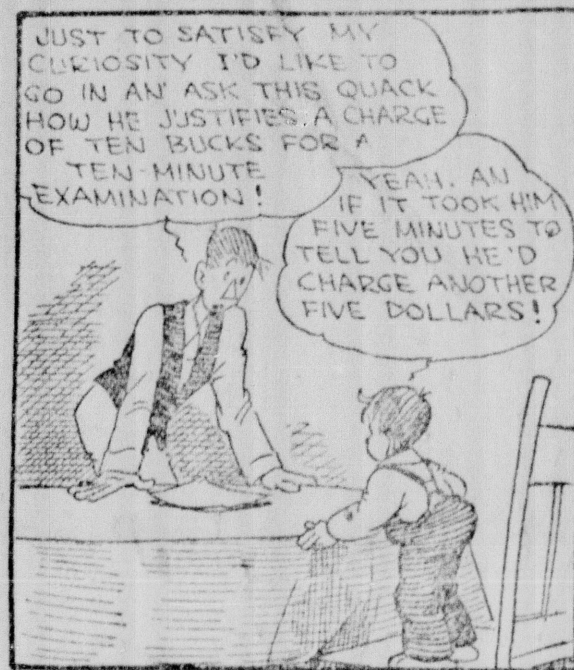

In 1920 the Westinghouse engineers conducted a series of experiments with wireless telephony from a laboratory in East Pittsburgh. Wireless amateurs, then possessing receivers for the purpose of listening to dot-dash messages, were asked to listen in on the wireless telephony experiments. In due course the Westinghouse tests included the transmission of phonograph records; and the novelty of talks and music coming over the air soon caused laymen to buy and install inexpensive radio receivers.

Organized Broadcasting
And having created a large audience for its experimental transmission, the Westinghouse organization soon felt duty bound to place its experiments on a schedule basis. Singers and speakers were now introduced in place of phonograph music. And radio broadcasting came into existence with a rapidity of growth that stands without parallel. From a single experimental station, radio broadcasting grew to hundreds of stations dotting the entire country.

In April, 1919, out of the necessity of centralizing America's wireless or radio efforts, and at the invitation of the United States Government, the Radio Corporation of America was formed. This company immediately purchased the property of the British-owned Marconi Company, secured rights under all important radio patents, and quickly placed in commercial service high-power stations connecting across the Atlantic and Pacific oceans to distant lands. Thus came about our American world-wide network which makes New York and San Francisco the centers of radio communication.

With the advent of radio broadcasting, the Radio Corporation of America, in conjunction with its associates, the Westinghouse and the General Electric companies, established a chain of broadcasting stations to serve the American public.

and many names applied to each, and many interesting legends concerning them.

"Shortly after Mr. Overton gave his descriptive talk about the flag he consulted a prominent flag maker of New York, and in a short time the first Christian Flag was set up in that little Sunday School at Coney Island, New York.

"It is now used all over the world, and the following salute is very fittingly used:

"I pledge my allegiance to my flag and to the Saviour for whose kingdom it stands; one brotherhood, uniting all mankind in service and love."

Many Advantages To Cow Testing Association

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 10.—There are many advantages in belonging to a cow testing association in the opinion of County Farm Agent William F. Greenawald. On Tuesday the Middle-Bucks association held its annual meeting in the offices of the Bucks County Agricultural Extension Society, at the Court House.

County Agent Greenawald pointed out that one big advantage is in knowing your production and weeding out the poor stock. Nineteen out of the twenty-six herds in the Middle-Bucks association are tested and the policy of the work is to advocate tested herds, 100 per cent. The association work gives opportunity for better breeding, the idea being to get a bull with higher records back of him than the cows in the herd.

Officers elected yesterday were as follows: President, Joseph Canby, Hulmeville; vice-president, Willis Hunsberger, Plumsteadville; secretary and treasurer, Amos Satterthwaite, Yardley; directors, L. P. Satterthwaite, Newtown; Walker Jackson, Feasterville; Washington Cadwallader, Warrington; J. E. Ivins, Feasterville.

The association elected Merwin Waller as tester for the association for another year. It was reported there are twenty-six members in the association at the present time. Three members dropped out during the past year and three new members were elected yesterday, including A. C. Emfin, Feasterville; Joseph Parry, Rushland; and Philip Smith, New Hope.

Ribbons were presented to nine members of the 1925-26 association for exceptional accomplishments in cow-testing work, the yearly herd average being between 300 and 350 pounds butterfat.

Those who were awarded the ribbons included Linfred Benner, Langhorne; L. P. Satterthwaite, Newtown; C. S. Krishel, Doylestown; J. S. Briggs, Yardley; G. S. Havens, New Hope; C. J. Koller, New Hope; Cook and Bennett, Langhorne; Walter S. Bishop, Doylestown; and J. I. Smith, Pineville.

Auto News

Dodge Brothers, Inc., announces the addition of a new sedan to the present line of closed cars. It is called the Special All-Purpose Sedan and is designed especially for the man who needs a car which can be used in the day time for business and at night for recreation.

The new car is unique in that, while it is to all appearances a standard production sedan, it can be quickly made over into an ideal commercial vehicle suitable for carrying light merchandise, salesman's samples, luggage or other articles.

When used as a passenger car it presents a roomy interior. It is upholstered in deep, comfortable, Spanish grain, hand-buffed, genuine leather that can be easily cleaned and has excellent wearing qualities.

Conversion into a business car is accomplished easily and quickly as it is only necessary to open a spacious snug-fitting door in the rear to permit removal of the cushions. With these out, a hinged, steel braced floor can be dropped forward, affording perfect protection for the carpet on the sedan floor and giving a level load space 44 inches wide and 48 inches long. The false floor and aluminum skirting upholstery eliminate the possibility of marring the interior.

A heavy, nickel-plated bar, mounted on the spare tire carrier brackets, protects the gasoline tank and facilitates loading and unloading heavy commodities. The spare tire is mounted well forward on the left running board, permitting ready opening of the front door on the driver's side.

The unique arrangement of the Special All-Purpose Sedan allows loading and unloading through the side doors of the rear compartment as well as through the rear door. The arrangement is especially convenient when the car is loaded with a number of articles, some of which are not readily accessible for unloading through the rear door.

The uses to which this unique type of car can be put are practically unlimited. The salesman selling from samples finds it ideal for his purpose—a commercial vehicle in business hours and a pleasure sedan for his leisure time. He is able to cut his automobile investment in half because of the double purpose of this car.

Tourists find in the compartment at the rear an excellent place to carry their luggage on long motor trips as it makes it easy to carry even trunks or complete camp equipment.

The merchant whose delivery requirements are limited also finds the Special All-Purpose Sedan admirably fitted to his needs. The car is of great value to farmers, who, instead of driving a slow moving truck to town with their lighter produce, can make the trip much more quickly and conveniently with this type of sedan.

Because of its greater utility the Special All-Purpose Sedan has a higher resale value than the ordinary pleasure car.
